In this issue: Important information about updating your ACEIT License

Updated ACEIT License Expiration Date for Government Users

Attention ACEIT users working on government assets... You may have received notice from the ACEIT software that your license is expiring on 30 Sept 2025 and needs to be renewed. The ACEIT sales team is in the process of sending out updated license strings to our government site POCs with a new license expiration of 30 September 2035. Organizations with recent DMS renewals already have updated strings. Others will be provided in the next couple of weeks. If you need a license string update please contact your ACEIT site POC. ACEIT Support does not give out license strings to users, it is up to the Site POC to distribute them.

Please keep in mind that the license expiration date is NOT the same as your Distribution Maintenance and Support (DMS) expiration date. The government ACEIT license expiration date is for the next ten year period.

ACEIT License String Installation Instructions

If your license has expired, or is going to expire, and you have received a new license string please follow these instructions to complete the installation of your new license string. You may need Administrative rights on the machine you are updating.

1. Click Start, Select Programs, Select ACEIT, and run the "ACEIT ADMIN" utility.
2. Select the "License" Tab
3. Click "ADD"
4. Input your new License String Information. Please note that ACEIT uses the most current license string available. Removing your old license string is optional and can be done using the "DELETE" function.
